

S. S. TROOPS

To Be Rushed to the Scene of the Indian Excitement.

The Trouble Was Instigated by Horse Thieves and Outlaws.

Gov. Richards Thinks a Fight Will Take Place Between the Settlers and Indians Before Troops Arrive—He Believes the Former Will Hold Their Own.

BOISE, Ida., July 25.—Word was received here Wednesday night that troops from the department of the Platte would be rushed to the scene of the Indian excitement at Jackson's hole.

Col. Cook and staff of Boise barracks were interviewed Wednesday by a representative of the United Press, and Col. Cook said he had no orders for moving to the seat of trouble, though he might receive some shortly. The country around Jackson's hole is occupied by a tough lot of outlaws and horse thieves, who have stirred up this trouble with the Indians for some personal profit. There is no doubt that some Indians have been killed, but the reports are exaggerated, and authentic news is hard to get, though the settlers there are arming for protection and Wednesday night serious trouble seemed imminent. It is reliably reported that the Shoshone Indians have joined the Bannocks, and stragglers from other tribes are struggling into the camp. Wednesday it was reported that several families of settlers were killed near Jackson's hole, but the report lacks confirmation.

POCAHELLO, Ida., July 25.—"Excitement in the Jackson hole country is at fever heat. It is not safe for ranchmen to leave their homes. The Indians are thoroughly aroused and are determined to seek vengeance for the death of the Indians killed two weeks ago by deputy constables." These were the words of Indian Agent Tetter, who returned early Wednesday morning unburned and worn out from a hard trip to the Jackson hole valley, where the Indian trouble is located.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 25.—Assistant Secretary Reynolds, of the interior department, advised Gov. Richards Wednesday evening that Gen. Coppinger had been ordered to go to the scene of Indian troubles with troops for protection of the settlers. The governor was also advised by Gen. Coppinger that four troops of cavalry had been ordered from Ft. Robinson, Neb., to the Jackson hole country. Calvin Horn, a commandant at Ft. Russell, has been ordered to have his command in readiness, and has seven companies of infantry prepared to move. Col. Thomas Moore, chief trainmaster of the army of the Platte, stationed at Camp Carson, near this city, has two pack trains and field wagon equipments ready to move.

Gov. Richards says he thinks a fight between the settlers and Indians will take place before troops can be got on the ground, that if the settlers are well provided with ammunition, he thinks they will hold their own until aid arrives.

A POOR JOB.

An Alleged Murderer Hanged to a Tree by a Mob and Left for Dead—The Victim's Hands Being Free, He Cuts Himself Down and Secures Warrants for Two of the Gang.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 25.—Kimball Green, with his two brothers and his father, were tried for the murder and cremation of David Hildebrand, a neighbor. Kimball got a separate trial recently and was acquitted. Tuesday night a mob of twenty men went to his house, dragged him to a tree and strung him up, leaving him for dead. As his hands were free he managed to cut himself down with a pocket knife. He came to town and secured warrants for two of the mob whom he recognized. His neck and body showed rough treatment.

Connor's Opinion of Holmes. ASSUMPTION, Ill., July 25.—I. L. Connor, also known as Ned Connor, whose divorced wife, Julia, is supposed to have been murdered by H. H. Holmes, has been keeping a jewelry store in this city for two months. Connor will not give any opinion on the probability of his former wife having been murdered, but talked freely of Holmes. He said: "I think Holmes is one of the most smooth men I ever met. I was in partnership with him in a drug store in Chicago. If I should tell all I know about Holmes, it would hang him. I have seen him do things that no man on earth could or would do."

May Squeal on Holmes. ST. LOUIS, July 25.—It is believed that Mrs. Hedgpath, wife of the notorious train robber, has revealed or will reveal to Chief of Police Harrigan everything connected with H. H. Holmes, the insurance swindler, one of her husband's pals. Mrs. Hedgpath's story will lay bare the workings of the most daring insurance swindlers ever heard of, which Holmes was the leader and arch conspirator.

He Got a Big Verdict. PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 25.—It is reported that H. C. King, of Boston, obtained a verdict in the United States court at Harrisonburg, Va., Wednesday, giving him a title to 500,000 acres of land. This is the famous land case recently going through courts here.

Will Await Detective Geyer's Return. PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—The case of a woman against the self-confessed life insurance conspirator and alleged multi-murderer, H. H. Holmes, will rest until Detective Geyer, who is now in Indianapolis searching for young Howard Pitzel, returns to Philadelphia.

Probably Another Holmes Victim. CHICAGO, July 25.—Kitty Kelly, a stenographer for Holmes, is now said to be missing. Her friends have not heard from her since 1892, and they believe that Holmes has made away with her.

EVIDENCE DISCOVERED.

The Backbone of a Human, a Rib and a Bone With Two Teeth Found in the Holmes Building in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 25.—The backbone of a human being was Wednesday's first find of the detectives who are at work in the Holmes building in Englewood. The second find was a rib; later on there was a bone with two teeth, and now Chief Badenoch and Inspector Fitzpatrick have gone to Englewood to direct personally the future search. The find was at once reported to Inspector Fitzpatrick at the city hall, and communicated to Chief Badenoch. The pieces of a human skeleton were found in the basement under the drug store, and the diggers are still hard at work.

In the wet earth, mixed with quicklime, the men saw what appeared to be several ribs protruding. They dropped their shovels and spades and carefully uncovered the bones with their hands. Seven ribs were thus taken out, when several sections of the vertebra, and what is described as a piece of an upper jaw with two teeth attached, were found. Eleven more ribs were taken out of the places. With the ribs they found a portion of a woman's jacket. On the jacket was a small bunch of hair, too much discolored by the dirt to give a notion of its original color.

A glass vial containing about four ounces of a fluid was found in the same place but its character has not yet been determined.

Druggist Davis suggested a theory that the bones were too small to be a part of the skeleton of either of the Williams girls and he at once declared his belief to be that they were a portion of the remains of Mrs. Connor's little girl, who disappeared when 7 or 8 years old.

A Peculiar Case.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., July 25.—Local physicians are greatly puzzled over the condition of Miss Grace Dougherty, aged 16, who is suffering from dropsy. For several weeks she has been confined to her bed, and during that time has experienced an abnormal growth of almost two feet. In addition to that she has twice apparently died, but each time recovered. Tuesday she ceased breathing, and her attendants supposed she had died, but she rallied in an hour, and Wednesday the same thing occurred again.

GEN. CAMPOS.

Now at Bayamo With Eight Thousand Men.

The Story of the Big Battle Near Manzanillo on July 13.

The Insurgent Leader With a Force of 7,000 Men Opened the Fight—The Rebels Lost 400 Killed and Wounded, Among Them Several Officers.

HAVANA, July 25.—The full official details of the battle fought between Bayamo and Manzanillo on July 13 has been received here. Gen. Campos started for Bayamo on July 13 with one battalion known as that of Isabel the Catholic; three companies of the sixth peninsular battalion, one company of engineers, two companies of mounted guerrillas and 1,200 men commanded by Gen. Santolides.

Anot Maceo, Bartolomeo Masso, Rabbi, and other prominent insurgent leaders, with a force of 7,000 men, were waiting for them and opened the battle on the road between Bayocito and Datil.

The rebels had 400 killed and wounded, among them being Gen. Rabbi, Col. Machado, Capt. Bellario Ramirez, Com. Moncada and three others.

Gen. Santolides, who was in the vanguard, received two bullets in the breast and in the forehead. He was killed. Campos then took command and broke the insurgent ranks, after which he formed his men into a square and marched thus a distance of two leagues to Bayario, where he now is. He carried with him the bodies of Gen. Santolides and Adj. Sotomayor. The insurgents had taken up positions and deployed their lines on a stock farm. These positions were very advantageous, and they continued the fight for six hours. It ended at Mabay creek. When the level ground was reached, the Spanish troops were charged by a force of more than 3,000 cavalry under command of Maceo, while the rebel infantry attacked the Spanish rear guard and there the battle lasted five hours longer. It was a hand to hand fight, the insurgents' object being to break Campos' square.

Lieut. Col. Vacuero was wounded, as were San Martin, Lolo Benitz, Travetti, Capt. Tomas and two lieutenants. Seventy soldiers were either killed or wounded. The residents of Bayocito declare that the volleys of musketry were tremendous. As soon as he understood the severity of the attack, Gen. Campos ordered the government mules and horses to be killed and entrenchments to be formed with their bodies. The firing ceased at 7 o'clock in the evening. The general entered Bayamo at 9 o'clock p. m., when the battle was about coming to an end for want of ammunition.

In Bayamo the people heard the firing of the cannon, but supposed that the troops engaged were the columns of General Navarre consisting of 3,000 men.

The rebels' chief Mendieta burned the town of Guayamo and castle known as Guayamito. The rebels also burned "El Habanero." All the wounded were gathered together as were the dead, and taken to Bayamo. Gen. Echague has reached Bayamo with his brigade, so that Gen. Campos now has 9,000 men and six pieces of artillery. Public opinion is unanimous in pronouncing the action a glorious one. The news has been read with extraordinary satisfaction and criticisms designed to discredit the Spanish army are no longer heard.

BATTLE WITH BANDITS.

One Robber Killed and Two Wounded—One of the Posse Shot Through the Shoulder.

HENNESSY, O. T., July 25.—Tuesday afternoon the noted outlaw, Dick Yeager, and two companions were seen and recognized by Charles Allen, deputy sheriff, a few miles from this place. They were in a spring wagon, all heavily armed and heading south. Allen quickly summoned a posse of five armed and determined men, and by fast riding headed the gang off three miles southeast of Sheridan, at which point they ambushed themselves at a turn in the road where it was heavily timbered. When the desperadoes came in sight the officers cried "Hands up." The response was a volley of bullets. A desperate fight ensued in which Bandit Yeager was shot through the heart and two wounded, one seriously through the hip and the other's wrist shattered. One of the posse, George Huff, received a Winchester bullet in the left shoulder.

Robbery Drives the Victim Insane.

OAKLAND, Cal., July 25.—The case of Mrs. Eliza Scott, who was sent to Ukiah insane asylum recently for refusing to take food for a length of time, has taken a sensational turn. Mrs. R. H. Woodall, a sister of Mrs. Scott, residing at 272 south Peoria street, Chicago, writes that there was $1,000 in Mrs. Scott's possession when she left Chicago. Mrs. Woodall expresses the opinion that Mrs. Scott was robbed and the loss of her money drove her temporarily insane. Mrs. Woodall is anxious that the Oakland police shall further investigate the case.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Theodore Durrant will not face a jury until Thursday if he does then. Judge Murphy continued his case Tuesday until Thursday morning in order that the prosecution might have time to prepare an answer to the affidavits presented by his attorneys for a change of venue. When the court ordered a continuance he also warned all of the jurymen to respond at one o'clock under the penalty of being brought in by the sheriff.
